AILMENTS OF WOMEN.

AllMents of women.

There is no denying the fact that thousands of American women drag along day in and day out suffering with these ailments peculiar to their sex which make life a burden. If women who suffer with dragsings down pains, inflammatory, ulcerated or catarrhal conditions would only give that greatest of all remedies, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial, they would readily find relief from such suffering, as the many letters of commendation constantly being published prove.

THE HOOP-LA

By DOROTHY DIX

THE WORLD'S HIGHEST PAID WOMAN WRITER. I used to know a little woman who | infuse into life that turns it from can life, she would say:

"Ah madame, it is that you Americans leave out the hoop-la! That is why you are so dull and bored. When convert a boiled dinner into a feast. This is a fact that we Americans have sadly overlooked. In our passion for practicality and efficiency we have forgotten that to make life worth living we must have the things of the spirit as well as the things of the When you are so dull and bored. When I come into the ring to do my act the drum makes the big boom, and I smile and wave my arms, and I cry hoop-la, hoop-la! and the people smile with me, and they sit up, all excitement, and look for something that is gay and charming, and they give me the applause. body, and that it is just as necessary to cultivate the graces as it is the we fall victims to those who proffer to our hungry souls the food for which they pine. Practically any sinuous siren can mark any man she pleases as her own, as is amply proven by the prosperity of the vamp business, while the most puritanical matron, with the most rigid moral principles, reverts to the Mother Eve type when a glib-tongued talker comes along who whispers in her ear the things her husband never says to her any more.

It's rather pitiful to think what we could do with our hum-drum existences by wreathing them with a few flowers and tying a saucy bow of pib-

we fall victims to those who proffer ences by wreathing them with a few flowers and tying a saucy bow of rib-bon on them, and still more pitiful to think that we are too dull and stupid, or too lazy and indifferent to do it. Take domestic life, for instance. Most of us find that pretty dull and monotonous, and we think of home as a place where no one considers it ob-ligatory to use even common politeligatory to use even common politeness in dealing with those with whom

There are, however, a few people wise enough to take the trouble to gild family life. They keep the spirit glid family life. They keep the spirit of romance alive, even after they have domesticated it by the living-room radiator. These couples no more es-cape the inevitable trials and tribu-lations and sacrifices of matrimony than do others, but by their glorifica tion of the holy estate they take the sting out of self-denial and make it worth while.

The husband still keeps the attitude of a lover. He brings home to his wife a flower, a book, a box of candy that show thought and care in their selec-tion. He makes little treats for his wife. He gives her little surprises. He notices what she has on and how she does her hair, and is full of ap-preciation of all that she does for him and so he keeps the thrill in life for her. The woman plays up to her husband. She takes the trouble to dress for him, to put a flower on her breast, to turn always a radiant face upon him and to make of her home a place of enchantment where he may forget the struggle and the anxieties of the outside world. And so they make of their love and their relationship a living, palpitating joy, instead of a dead

Yet these neople are no better sit uated than thousands of others who They make no more sacrifices, nor do they do their duty by each other any better than the others. They have merely found out how to infuse the hoop-la into matrimony. The same principle holds good with regard to our work, which is either dreary drudgery or an exciting career according to the spirit that we throw into it. Why do people yearn to be actors, writers, artists, instead of car-peniers, bill clerks and green grocers. There is really just as much excitement in building a skyscraper as there is in building up a character on the stage. There is just as much romance in shipping goods to the far parts of the earth as there is in writing novels about the seven seas. You can make just as good a picture in still life in a shop window as you an on canvas.

All the difference is that the actor.

artist and the writer follow th professions about which there rests a sort of hoop-la glamor, and it is the hoop-la spirit that camouflages work and worry, and turns them into high Copyright, 1918, by the Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

It is understood that Brig. Gen. Albertus W. Catlin, who has been on sick leave since returning to this on sick leave since returning to this country after being wounded in France, will be assigned to duty at Marine Barracks, Quantico, Va., and that Brig. Gen. Joseph H. Pendelton, recently relieved from duty in command of Marines in Santo Domingo, will be assigned to command Marine Barracks, Paris Island, S. C., relieving Brig. Gen. John H. S. C., relieving Brig. Gen. John H. Myers. Maj. E. S. Willing has been detached from sea duty and ordered to Marine Barracks. Quantico. First Lieut. E. B. Hanson has been appointed aide-de-camp to Maj. Gen. George Barnett, commandant of Marine Corps.

Examination will be held through-out the country on November 4 for appointment to the Army Dental Corps. Approximately seventy va-cancies are to be filled. An exam-ination of privates of the army who are graduate dentists will be held within the next thirty to ninet days. Some of these men are al-ready in the Dental Corps, but many of them are performing regular military duty in the various arms of the service. Their names have bee assembled from the registration cards gible to take this examination. These men will be given the first oppor-tunity to fill vacancies, and those members of the former Dental Reserve Corps, now in an inactive sta-tus, will be called to active duty as needed, probably after January 1 Under the orders now in force, no men are issued commissions except as vacancies occur and their services are needed.

The members of the House nava affairs committee, who recently re-turned from a trip of inspection abroad, are impressed with the serious eed of torpedo-boat destroyers our naval force abroad and propose to look into the question of speeding up the building of these vessels. It is stated that the Navy needs torpedoboat destroyers just as urgen the army needs airplanes. Naval of-ficers abroad are said to insist that additional torpedo-boat destroyers are

Christmas Handkerchiefs Are Ready

First of all just now you will have just as good choice as you could have by waiting until December; perhaps better, because when stocks become depleted now it is becoming more and more difficult to replace them. You can make your choice in a more leisurely manner; furthermore you are aiding your government in relieving the congestion of late shopping.

And There Is Good Reason for

Not Delaying Their Selection

Women's All-linen Initial Handkerchiefs, 25c, 35c, and 50c
